

UK Rodenticide Stewardship Regime

Advice for Customers Who Have Been Denied Supply of Professional Use Rodenticides with Stewardship Conditions

On 1st October 2016 new rules came into force meaning that all professional use rodenticides with stewardship conditions attached to them can only be supplied to professional users holding certification demonstrating compliance with the UK Rodenticide Stewardship Regime.

This applies to farmers, gamekeepers and pest controllers and explains why your supplier has been unable to supply you today. You now have four options as follows :

Option 1

You can undertake a CRRU UK approved training course. Once you have passed the course exam, this certification will allow you to purchase professional use rodenticides with stewardship conditions.

www.thinkwildlife.org/list-of-training-and-certification

Option 2

If you are a farmer and member of a CRRU UK aligned farm assurance scheme, showing proof of this membership will allow you to purchase professional use rodenticides with stewardship conditions.

www.thinkwildlife.org/list-of-approved-farm-assurance-schemes

Option 3

You can employ the services of a professional pest control service company.

National Pest Technicians Association
www.npta.org.uk

British Pest Control Association
www.bpca.org.uk

Option 4

You can purchase amateur use rodenticides.